Since 2012 Emmanuel Moulin is leading URBACT, a European Territorial Cooperation Programme dedicated to the promotion of sustainable urban development through exchange and learning between cities. In this position he contributes actively to the European dialogue on urban issues and he is a core participant to the Urban Agenda for the EU.

With post-graduate diplomas in Engineering as well as in Town and Country Planning, he has been working during the last 30 years from local to national and European levels on urban development in France and Germany.

Tobias Kettner is an Outreach and Liaison Officer in Europe, Habitat III Secretariat, UN Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development.

The Office for Liaison with European Institutions was established in 2001, with the aim to provide added value to the overall work of UN-Habitat in its relations with European Union institutions. The Liaison Office plays a role in assisting UN-Habitat headquarters and regional offices in identifying the priorities of European partners, developing new projects, and backstopping EU-funded programmes.

In view of the Third United Nations Conference on Housing and Sustainable Urban Development (Habitat III) held in 2016, the Office played a substantial role in supporting the European preparatory process.
